Application for permission to move into a self-financed residence (Danish Aliens Act Section 42 k)

Uses

This form can be used to apply for permission to move into a self-financed residence. You must find and pay for the residence yourself. You and your household, if applicable, must live at an asylum centre until we have finished processing your application and have determined whether we can approve your application for permission to move into a self-financed residence.

Instructions

1. Fill in and sign this form (follow the instructions).
2. Fill in and sign the contract with the Danish Immigration Service (Appendix 1). Submit a copy of the rental contract together with the application.
3. Submit the application by sending it to the Immigration Service (see contact information at the bottom of this page).

If you are granted permission

If you are permitted to move into a self-financed residence, you and your household, if applicable, will be affiliated with the closest asylum centre, where you can receive the necessary healthcare. You must pay for the residence you are permitted to live in yourself and will not receive cash allowances from the Immigration Service.

Processing of your data

The Immigration Service will process information about you in relation to your application. In the folder 'Information about the processing of personal data related to your accommodation' you can read more about our processing of data and about your rights.

The folder was handed out to you when you were accommodated at an asylum center. If you have lost the folder, you can get a new one at your asylum center or find it via www.newtodenmark.dk/gdprfolder

Terms and conditions

In order to receive permission to move into a self-financed residence, you must have lived in Denmark for at least 6 months after submitting your application for asylum, and the Immigration Service must have decided that you can stay in Denmark while the asylum case is being processed (Phase 2).

If your application for asylum is still being processed, you must continuously co-operate with the Immigration Service to help process your application.

If you have received a final rejection of your application for asylum or you have withdrawn your application and are awaiting deportation, you must continuously assist with your deportation.

In order to receive permission to move into a self-financed residence, you must be able to support yourself and your household, if applicable. The self-support requirement is met if the total income that you and individuals over the age of 18 in your household earn is enough to support your family. You must document your own and your household's total income by submitting pay checks or another type of documentation to the Immigration Service.

You will not be permitted to move into a self-financed residence if you have been expelled by court, have been granted 'tolerated stay', have been expelled in accordance with the terms of Section 25 of the Aliens Act (administrative expulsion), have been sentenced to mandatory or suspended custodial sentence or other criminal sanction that implies or allows for detention for a crime committed in this country which would have resulted in a punishment of this character, are covered by the grounds for exclusion in the Refugee Convention, if your residence permit has lapsed pursuant to section 21 b (1) of the Aliens Act, or if your application for asylum is being treated as manifestly unfounded.

If you are under 18, you may only be permitted to move into a self-financed residence if, after an individual assessment, the Immigration Service decides that this is in your best interests.

You must find the residence yourself before permission can be granted. Your residence must be a suitable accommodation for you and your household, if applicable. This means, for example, that the maximum occupancy is two people per room, or that there must be at least 20 square metres available per person. You and your landlord must consent to the Immigration Service having access to inspect the condition of the residence to ensure that you are living in reasonable and suitable conditions. You must submit a copy of the rental contract together with the application.

The residence may not be located in a municipality that is not receiving refugees in accordance with the Integration Act. From 1 January 2020, the following municipalities are not receiving refugees:

- Albertslund, Bornholm, Brøndby, Egedal, Frederikshavn, Guldborgsund, Halsnæs, Hjørring, Høje-Taastrup, Hørsholm, Ishøj, Jammerbugt, Kerteminde, Køge, Læsø, Mariagerfjord, Morsø, Rudersdal, Rødovre, Skanderborg, Tårnby, Vallensbæk and Aalborg.

Contract with the Immigration Service

You must enter into a contract with the Immigration Service about your permission to move into a self-financed residence. The contract specifies the conditions that must be met before you can be granted permission. The contract is attached as Appendix 1 to this application. When the Immigration Service has received your part of the contract with your signature, we will contact you to explain the terms of the contract.

Approval period

Permission to move into a self-financed residence is valid until you leave Denmark or receive a residence permit and begin the integration process.

Permission will be revoked if you no longer qualify or you fail to live up to the terms of your contract, for example, if you fail to continuously co-operate to help process your application or to assist with your deportation.

For a faster reply

Your application will be processed faster if all the boxes in the application form are filled in. It is therefore important that you fill in the form carefully and provide the information we need to process the application.

Names of members of the applicant's household:	Personal ID of members of the applicant's household:
Person 1	Person 1
Person 2	Person 2
Person 3	Person 3

Address of self-financed residence	Postal code	City/town

The Danish Immigration Service hereby approves the above-mentioned applicant and his/her above-mentioned household to move to a self-financed residence at the above-mentioned address.

The applicant and his/her above-mentioned household over the age of 18 are verbally notified that the contract has been entered into under the following conditions:

1) The applicant and members of his/her household over the age of 18 must continuously co-operate to help process his/her application for asylum, and – if the applicant receives a final rejection or if the application is withdrawn – must continuously assist with the deportation process.

The applicant has been notified that co-operation for example means that the applicant and members of the household above the age of 18:

- must attend scheduled meetings with the authorities.

The applicant has also been notified that if his/her application for asylum is still being processed, co-operation involves the applicant and members of the household over the age of 18:

- making statements,
- handing over the documents that he/she brought to Denmark, or that he/she can reasonably be expected to obtain without revealing his/her whereabouts to officials in his/her home country,
- taking a language test, age determination examination, torture examination, as well as other evaluations, and consenting to allowing immigration authorities to obtain the applicant's previous applications for asylum in other European countries.

Finally the applicant has been notified that if he/she receives a final rejection, co-operation involves the applicant and members of the household over the age of 18

- signing a statement pledging to assist with his/her deportation,
- providing the police with the necessary information to allow them to obtain travel documents,
- if necessary, meeting with officials from his/her home country's embassy in Denmark in order to obtain travel documents, and
- if necessary, meeting with a delegation from his/her home country for identification purposes.

The applicant has also been notified that enquiries from the immigration authorities to the applicant and members of the household over the age of 18 will be sent the above-mentioned address. If the individual(s) in question do not respond to such enquiries, including meeting notifications, depending on the circumstances, this can be considered a lack of co-operation and result in the individual(s) having to move back to an asylum centre.

2) The applicant and accompanying family members cannot, at any time:

- have been expelled in accordance with Section 25 of the Aliens Act (administrative expulsion), because the person is considered as a danger to national security or a serious threat to public order, safety or health,
- have been expelled by court,
- have been sentenced to mandatory or suspended custodial sentence or other criminal sanction that implies or allows for detention for a crime committed in this country which would have resulted in a punishment of this character,
- have been covered by the grounds for exclusion in the Refugee Convention, e.g. because the person has committed a crime against peace or humanity, a war crime or a serious crime of a non-political nature outside the country fled to before the person got access to it as a refugee, or has been guilty of actions in

- violations of UN's goals and ground principles,
- have been covered by the rules regarding lapsing in section 21b of the Aliens Act, because the person has left Denmark and has participated in activities abroad that threaten, or have the potential to threaten, national security, the public order or the security of other states, or
- have the asylum application processed according to section 53b of the Aliens Act (the manifestly unfounded procedure).

This means among other things, that the person cannot be approved to move into a self-financed residence, if he/she is on a 'tolerated stay'.

3) The applicant consents to giving the Immigration Service access to inspect the residence to ensure that the applicant and above-mentioned household are living in reasonable and suitable conditions.

The applicant has been notified that only the applicant and his/her household as tenant(s) is/are liable for any claims for compensation that the landlord may make against the individual(s) in question in accordance with the rental contract/Rent Act and that such claims for compensation/damages will not be paid by the Immigration Service or the affiliated asylum centre.

4) If the applicant and household wish to move into another self-financed residence, the individual in question must enter into a new contract with the Immigration Service. The applicant and household may not move into a new self-financed residence until the relevant contract has been entered into with the Immigration Service.

5) If the terms and conditions are not observed, the applicant and household lose the right to live in a self-financed residence. The Immigration Service will then decide which asylum centre the individual(s) in question must move to.
